24 Former Leaders of Bund Guilty of Draft Conspiracy

Convicted in Federal Court in New York
Monday Night

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Twenty-four erstwhile German-American Bund leaders, who Assistant U. S. Attorney Harold F. Corcoran said preferred the German rathelard to this country, have been convicted of conspiring to advise resistance of selective service.

The 24 men, each of whom may be sentenced to five years in prison and fined $10,000, appeared calm in Federal court last night as a Manhattan housewife, Mrs. Marguerite Casey, chairman of a six-man, six-woman jury that deliberated nearly six hours, announced the guilty verdict.

Another defendant, Ferdinand Callen, 57-year-old deaf proprietor of a South Bend, Ind., grocery store and a former Bund unit secretary, was acquitted.

Among those convicted were former national Bund chief Gerard Wilhelm Kunze of Camden, N. J., and Dr. Otto Willumeit, both of whom previously were indicted in Hartford, Conn., on charges of conspiring to send military data to Germany and Japan. Kunze had pleaded guilty to the charge and Willumeit had been convicted.

Three Plead Guilty
Gustav Hildebrand, former secretary-treasurer of the St. Paul, Minn., unit, who was not defendant, testified for the government.

Five Enlistees Will Leave Dixon Wednesday

Sergeant Dale F. Crozier of the Army recruiting station in Dixon, today listed five enlistees who will leave this city tomorrow morning to be inducted into service. Wallace Dale Hackman of Franklin Grove is the only Lee county man to enlist and he will enter the air corps. The others are: Eugene Andrew Bennett and Marion Jacob Vogel, both of Fulton, who have enlisted in the ordnance department; Blakeley Gardner Booth of DeKalb, air corps; and Elmer Ray Young, Rock Falls, armored force.

Sergeant Crozier announced today that he had received a supply of application blanks for soldier's allowance which may be had by calling at the recruiting station in the Chamber of Commerce building. The address of the soldier and his serial number are vitally important in filing the applications.

No Cheap Way to Win
War, Says Adm. King

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Admiral Ernest J. King, naval operations chief, says the war will be long and hard and there is no cheap way to win it "except by going in there and slugging." "There will be no miracles," he said. The Ohio Society of New York last night. "No inventor is going to come along with a machine to knock the Japs out of their planes."

The admiral declared that the United States was fighting a pro-ocean war with "just about a no-ocean navy," but that its second-ocean navy would be "well on its way" within a year.

THE WAR
TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 20.—What would you give if you could be assured that this time next year Herr Hitler would be swinging sweetly from the end of a hangman's rope?

Plenty, of course. And I believe we can have this assurance if the Anglo-American allies aren't compelled by circumstances to deviate far from the fundamental strategy which they laid down long ago. This is that the Nazi antichrist is the main enemy and that we must concentrate on crushing him.

We have now reached the crucial moment when American and British moves of the immediate future may determine whether the European section of the world conflict will be greatly protracted or whether we shall be able to dictate peace, say, in 12 months. That mark can be made under favorable conditions for the fuhrer is trying to maintain his footing on a mighty greasy spot.

The trend of the Hitlerian war, to my mind, depends heavily on the striking power of the United States and British air forces over western Europe and Germany.

Now, I'm not one of those who claim the war can be won in the air alone. I don't believe it can and don't know many who do believe so.

However, it does seem clear that Hitler now is in a position where he can be rendered fairly impotent by bombing in a comparatively short time and thus be vulnerable to land attack. That is, we can reach this happy day provided both the British and American commands in Britain have a reasonable increase in air strength. That is the consensus of many military experts.

Here you probably will point to the Royal Air Force's 1,000-bomber raid on Cologne and other great assaults, both by the British and by our own very destructive air force, and ask why these cannot be continued. Well, the answer to that is the thing in a nutshell. You cannot keep up 1,000-bomber assaults without stiff reinforcements and replacements. And unless the heavy raids are continued it will take a long time to iron out the Boche.

Unfortunately, so far as concerns the air, Uncle Sam and John Bull haven't been able, in practice, (Continued on Page 6)

United States Navy Air Force in Iceland Makes First U-Boat Kill

London, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The United States Navy's Air Force operating from Iceland has made its first definite claim of a U-boat kill, reporting the accurate bombing of a submarine by a Catalina flying boat, the British Air Ministry said today.

A few hours after the bombing, the report said, the U-boat's crew of 52 abandoned their sinking submarine and went aboard an Icelandic fishing boat. It said an allied destroyer later captured them.

The report by the Air Ministry's news service said the Catalina caught the U-boat on the surface and its fliers saw the Germans in the conning tower gesticulating wildly.

Accurately placed bombs threw up columns of water on both sides of the submarine which was lifted almost entirely out of the water, it said.

"We made two runs," said the Catalina's captain, "firing our guns as we went. The sub replied with cannon and machine guns but didn't do us any damage."

Complete Reshuffling

1 Board Suggested

Committee Report Criticizes
Present War
Control Setup

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A complete reshuffling of top war agencies under a new super control board was recommended today in a congressional report which said:

"Those officials who have charge of the war production program including the mobilization of manpower have not yet grasped the meaning of modern war."

The report, bristling with criticism of the present setup, was issued by the special house committee on national defense migration, headed by Rep. Tolan (D-Calif.).

It urged subordination of the War Production Board, the selective service administration, the war manpower commission and Office of Price Administration to a new super agency to be known as the Office of War Mobilization. Asserting that "our materials distribution system is breaking down and that 'hoarding of raw materials has become a nationwide phenomenon,'" the committee declared:

"This war can be lost in Washington."

Italian Regiment
Mutinies, Report

London, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Reuters reported today under an "Italian frontier" date line that an Italian Alpine regiment had mutinied at Gorizia, in northern Italy, when it was ordered to the Russian front.

The British news agency's report said ringleaders of the reported uprising were shot by the fascist military and that the troops were embarked forcibly without arms.

The News Chronicle reported in a dispatch from Ankara today that Albanian mountaineers have proclaimed an independent Albania and are now fighting the Italians on three mountain fronts.

"A continuing revolt at Skopje menaces Italian control of Albania and the Duce has had to send additional planes, heavy artillery and infantry forces," the dispatch said.

Kadens Threatens to Commit Suicide
on 33rd Birthday

Army Deserter Faces
State and Federal Indictments

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The state of Illinois chose two charges of armed robbery and one of rape to start its prosecution of Irwin Kadens, the Army deserter whose spectacular criminal career ended with an unsuccessful holdup yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorney Francis McCurrie said he would ask the Cook county grand jury to vote indictments on these charges today or tomorrow. He explained that although the state was proceeding with these charges first it did not necessarily mean that Kadens would be tried on them first.

The federal government is still considering what charges it can lodge against him, McCurrie said, and federal indictments may follow. The Illinois charges include Kadens' bungling attempt to rob a west side currency exchange yesterday and an accusation that he attacked a 17-year-old girl.

Kadens' wife, Jeanette, a small, thin woman of 27, who allowed him to enlist in the Army and then took over the double duty of mother and breadwinner, says she "can't believe the things they say about him."

"Nightmare," Says Wife
"I can't see him as anything bad, because I never knew him as bad. . . . He used to do a thousand good things for us every day. . . . I can't believe these things are true. . . . The whole thing is a nightmare, a dream."

Her husband, who had been hunted as one of the nation's most dangerous criminals, in his jail cell explained his criminal behavior did not seek leniency or attempt to justify himself.

McCurrie said Kadens admitted between 50 and 75 robberies, a kidnapping, two rapes, two attempts at rape—most of them in Chicago. The robberies netted between $5,000 and $10,000—and Kadens told police he had "hidden" $6,000.

Wants Death Penalty
"I don't care about anything," said the 32-year-old Army deserter. "I don't want to live. I want them to give me the death penalty. If they don't execute me Thursday (his birthday) I still may die on my birthday. If I set a date to commit suicide, I'll do it."

Mrs. Kadens, a defense plant worker who several weeks ago pleaded for Kadens to surrender, was not allowed to see her husband to whom she was married eight years ago.

Over 530 U-Boats of Axis Sunk or Damaged Thus Far

London, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Britain has "an actual record of attacks which have resulted in the sinking or damaging of over 530 axis submarines" since the war began, A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, asserted today.

Alexander, giving a war commentary at Claxton Hall, said this total included some attacks by United States forces but did not include those attacked either by the Russians or by France before June, 1940.

"We have had much discussion in recent months about a second front," Alexander said, "but we must always remember that our ability to secure this depends directly upon the degree of control we exercise at sea as well as in the air."

He said the war against the U-boat still was "our greatest problem."

497th Ship Sunk
By The Associated Press

The sinking of a small United States cargo ship in western Atlantic submarine warfare was disclosed today by the Navy, the third sinking of American cargo ships announced in two days.

Six members of the 35-man crew of the latest American victim were killed bringing to 13 the fatalities in the three sinkings. The ship went down off the northern coast of South America after being hit by two torpedoes.

The Navy disclosed the loss of two American ships yesterday, which with today's announcement raised to 497 The Associated Press count of announced western Atlantic ship losses since Pearl Harbor.

Chicago Woman Runs
Amuck Here Monday

Mrs. Gene O'Shea, Chicago waitress, came out to Dixon yesterday to visit a relative at the Dixon state hospital and last night was taken from the bus station by police and removed to the Lee county jail after she was reported to have created a disturbance at the bus depot waiting room.

At the county jail she gave full vent to her emotions, with the result that several panes of window glass as well as furniture in the women's corridor was smashed and shattered. Two tear gas bombs were used in an effort to quell the irate female prisoner but with little effect, it was stated at the sheriff's office today.

Mrs. O'Shea was scheduled to face a city charge of disorderly conduct in police court after which she was to be returned to the county jail, later to appear in Lee County court where an information charging malicious mischief was to be filed.

Congress Finishes
10 Months Labor on Historic Measure

Prompt Approval by
FDR Expected; Tax
Hits Everyone

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Congress completed 10 months' work on a gigantic new wartime tax bill today and sent it to President Roosevelt for his expected prompt approval.

The senate wound up work on the measure by adopting a conference report which previously had been approved by a 130 to 2 vote by the house. Senate action was on a voice vote, with no opposition expressed.

As it went to the president, the bill contained stiff increases in the rates of regular income taxes on both individuals and corporations, plus a new 5 per cent Victory levy against all personal income above $624 yearly.

Geared to produce new revenue estimated at $6,881,000,000 by the treasury and $7,900,000,000 by congressional committees, the new bill would boost collections of direct taxes close to $25,000,000,000 yearly. In addition, about $1,750,000,000 would be taken from taxpayers and returned to them in the form of current credits for debt payments or in post-war rebate.

Imposition of the Victory impost on the regular income levies would make about 43,000,000 persons subject to direct federal taxation, as compared with the previous high water mark of 24,000,000 filing income tax returns.

Normal Rates Boosted
The normal income tax rates on individuals would be increased from 4 to 6 per cent and the present surtax schedule of 6 to 77 per cent raised to range from 13 to 82 per cent. Exemptions would be cut from $750 to $500 for single persons, $1,500 to $1,200 for married couples and the credit for dependents reduced from $400 to $350.

Corporations would feel the weight of a 9 per cent increase, from 31 to 40 per cent, in their taxes on normal and surtax income, with the levy on excess profits boosted from a graduated scale of 35 to 60 per cent to a flat rate of 50 per cent. A 10 per cent post-war rebate provision was attached to the latter rate.

Miscellaneous actions would freeze social security payroll taxes at their present levels for 1943, place a 3 per cent levy on express (Continued on Page 6)

Many Protests on Induction of Boys

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—An influx of protest mail spurred a movement among senators today to surround the proposed military draft of 18 and 19-year-old men with protective restrictions for their schooling, training and off-duty activities.

Letters from mothers protesting against induction of their sons and complaining about interruptions in their studies were reported piling up on legislators' desks, as well as petitions from organizations urging that Army camps be insulated against liquor and vice.

The senate has scheduled consideration Thursday of the draft legislation, already passed overwhelmingly by the house, and Senator Lee (D-Okla.) announced he would demand a record vote on an amendment to ban the sale of intoxicants and to enforce anti-vice regulations on and near military posts.

The house bill would allow high school and college students to finish their academic year, a provision several senators said might be written into the senate measure. As the latter stood, only high school students would be deferred and then only when called up during the last half of the school year.

Also before the senate, as a separate resolution, was a proposed constitutional amendment by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) to give all citizens of 18 or older the right to vote.

Tragedy Ends Shopping Tour of Oak
Park Physician and Wife Yesterday

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Paul F. Becker kept his appointment with his wife yesterday, as he had promised, and took her shopping in suburban Oak Park.

While Mrs. Becker shopped, Dr. Becker sat in his car parked north of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad tracks. When the physician saw a train come to a screeching stop and a crowd gather at the crossing, he was certain there had been an accident. He took his instruments from the car, hurried to offer aid.

The crowd gathered about the unconscious victim allowed the physician to pass through to give her first aid.

Dr. Becker immediately realized he should be removed to a hospital and he picked her up to take her there. But she died on the hospital's operating table.

She was the physician's wife, Helen, 63.

Six Million Tons of Scrap Metal Is Considered Likely

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The newspapers' united scrap metal drive committee today set its sights on 6 million tons as the likely total of old iron and steel salvaged in the newspaper-sponsored campaign which ended in most states Saturday.

The committee believed the 3,209,484 tons already reported collected by 47 states may be doubled when the last figures are available, probably several weeks from now.

The various states were revising their totals upward daily as additional scrap heaps, gathered during the campaign, were reported to central agencies. Their returns were still flooding the committee.

Wyoming led the nation to date with collection averaging 104.2 pounds per person and a tonnage of 13,098.

Following in order were the other states, with pounds per person listed first and then tonnage:

Reports by States
Pennsylvania: 101.2—505,850; Kansas: 97—87,372; Delaware: 90.1—12,026; Montana: 85.3—23,818; New Hampshire: 80.8—19,888; Indiana: 80.7—138,370; Nevada: 78.7—4,335; Colorado: 76.9—43,282; Oregon: 76.3—41,640; Connecticut: 75.4—64,447; Vermont: 75.2—13,504; New York: 74.4—501,231; Rhode Island: 72.9—26,000; Massachusetts: 67.2— (Continued on Page 6)

Correction of Remedial
Defects Is Necessary

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Men who try to avoid selective service by refusing to correct remedial physical defects may be subject to action as draft evaders, Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, said today.

Armstrong pointed out that state medical resources are available free to men who have been rejected on physical grounds and added that "far too few with remedial defects have taken advantage to date of this fine program."

Local selective service boards throughout this state have been instructed to receive applications for rehabilitation from any registrant who has been rejected and given a 4-F classification for physical reasons and who cannot afford to pay for the procedure himself," Armstrong said. "These cases are receiving a careful review by medical officers attached to state headquarters. In all cases where any doubt exists, appropriate action will be taken."

American Warships
Thunder to Action
Around Guadalcanal

Stalingrad Survives 57th
Day of Siege; Wars
Summarized

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Japan conceded that victory was still far out of sight in the battle of the Pacific today as American warships were officially reported to have thundered into action against enemy forces on Guadalcanal island in the lower Solomons.

Secretary of the Navy Knox told newsmen he believed "the Japanese have by no means as yet exercised their maximum force" in the Solomons campaign.

"It is still a good, stiff fight," he said.

The Navy in Washington disclosed that heavy United States naval units, boldly challenging a powerful Japanese sea armada, suddenly reappeared in the Guadalcanal battle theater Oct. 17 and effectively bombarded Japanese positions on the northwest section of the island.

The Navy said that no Japanese attempt to reinforce their troops had been observed since Oct. 15.

In Tokyo, Japan's foreign office spokesman, Tomokazu Hori, told the nation in a broadcast that the Pacific conflict was gradually assuming the phase of a long-term war and warned of a possible general counterattack by the United States on Japan.

Hit-Run Assaults
There was still no indication of a showdown battle between United States and Japanese warships in the Solomons. And for the moment at least both sides apparently were restricting their activities to hit-and-run assaults without risking a major engagement on which the fate of the entire southwest Pacific campaign might hinge.

Official dispatches said U. S. Army flying fortresses and other allied warplanes were inflicting heavy blows on Japan's sea-borne invasion forces throughout the 900-mile-long South Seas archipelago. For three days, beginning Oct. 16, allied bombers under Gen. MacArthur's command repeatedly attacked the strong Japanese fleet of warships, transports and cargo vessels off Shortland island, 250 miles north of Guadalcanal. Flying Fortress bombers and Navy-Marine Grumman Wildcat fighters strafed and burned 12 Japanese seaplanes caught on the water at Rekata bay, 115 miles north of Guadalcanal, and shot down a large Japanese flying boat and a twin-engine enemy bomber.

Jap Plane Losses Heavy
In two days of aerial combat, Japanese losses in the Solomons were raised to 340 destroyed planes.

At the far north end of the Pacific theater, American fliers again blasted the enemy's last base in the Aleutian islands, dropping 15 tons of bombs on the Japanese at Kiska. Overcast skies obscured the results of the attack.

Meanwhile, in the European theater swarms of German dive bombers and fighters resumed a full-scale assault on Stalingrad after cold rains had driven them from the skies in a short forerunner of winter, but Red army headquarters declared the Russians still held their lines unbroken for the past 36 hours.

As the storm subsided, the German Transocean news agency asserted that only "a few square kilometers" of Stalingrad was left in Soviet hands.

Committees Named To Help Farmers Register Trucks

Dates for Registration in Lee and Ogle Are Announced Today

All trucks operating in the United States (this includes farm trucks) must register and receive "a Certificate of War Necessity" before they will be permitted to secure gasoline, tires, or repair parts. This order becomes effective November 15, 1942. Forms have been or will be transported to the Office of Defense Transportation to all registered truck owners. The forms must be completed and returned as soon as possible, so that a certificate can be issued by November 15. The certificates are issued by the Office of Defense Transportation and mailed to truck owners from the office at Detroit, Michigan.

The Lee county USDA War Board has appointed a County Farm Transportation Committee, which committee will assist truck owners to complete their forms. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 22nd, 23rd and 24th have been designated as National Truck Registration Days, and registration places have been set up as follows:

Amboy, Farm Bureau building. Compton, Masonic hall. Dixon, One-Stop garage. Franklin Grove, Town hall. Harmon, Farmers' elevator. Steward, Town hall.

Registration will be from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. on the three days designated.

In completing the application for "Certificate of War Necessity" each truck owner will be required to furnish information as to the number of trips, the number of miles traveled, and the number of tons hauled for each quarter year in 1941, also, the second (2nd), and third (3rd) quarters for 1942, and estimate this information for the first and second quarters for 1943. All records pertaining to trucking should be brought to the meeting. Also, the truck owner must bring the form received from the Office of Defense Transportation with him.

The County Farm Trucking Committee calls attention to all truck owners, including farm trucks, that all trucks must have "Certificate of War Necessity" before they can get gas after November 15, 1942.

OGLE COUNTY PLANS

Farm truck operators in Ogle county will receive help in filling out their applications for Certificates of War Necessity, which they must have after November 15, from the new Farm Transportation Committee set up by the Ogle County Agricultural War Board.

The assistance will be given October 22, 23, 24, a period which has been designated for national farm truck registration. According to an Office of Defense Transportation order, the certificate which the operators of farm trucks and other motor vehicles, except passenger cars and motorcycles, must carry after November 15, will govern the miles they may travel and the loads they may carry.

Appointment of the county Farm Transportation Committee was announced by Forrest W. Gillespie, Ogle County AAA and Agricultural War Board chairman who becomes ex-officio chairman of the transportation committee. Other members of the committee are Robert L. Buford, a farmer, Ben H. Carpenter, a farmer, Vernon Hohnadle, a member to represent the truck transportation services and Willys Smith who is a dealer in farm supplies.

ODT has begun mailing applications to all truck operators, and farm truck operators should take these forms to the farm transportation committee during the registration period. The registration places for Ogle county for October 22, 23 and 24, will be the Polo Town hall, Polo; Rochelle city hall in Rochelle, and the Farm Bureau basement in Oregon. The office of the transportation committee will be the county AAA office.

SHIP 'EM SOONER AND AVOID THE JAM!

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

It was neither lack of demand nor threat of an oversupply that caused the poultry market to drop several cents last week. It was the fact that a ceiling was put on poultry prices, with no allowance made for the cost of carrying the surplus until next spring.

This is the season when chickens are marketed faster than they can be eaten. Someone must buy and hold the surplus for a few months. But suppose, for example, that poultry was 20 cents a pound when the ceiling was sounded on. Would you pay 20 cents now and 3 or 4 cents more for storing it until next spring, if, at the end of that time you knew there'd be no chance of selling it for more than 20 cents?

We learned enough arithmetic in the third grade to figure out that one.

Only one thing could happen under these circumstances. The price had to drop 3 or 4 cents—enough to allow for the cost of carrying the surplus poultry until next spring.

That's the explanation. If you're worrying for fear it may drop further, forget your fears. The demand has never been better. We can't get enough poultry.

Need for Price Control

I'm sure all of us recognize the need for keeping prices under control. (We haven't forgotten the after-effects of $400 land.) And I think the people who have the job of keeping prices down are sincere in their efforts. We may not like all their rulings (in general, it seems they're all right when they keep down the prices of what we have to buy and all wrong when they keep down the prices of what we have to sell), but we have to admit that if they're going to work at all, they've got to work both ways.

Production Is Our Job

The one thing that concerns me is what effect price ceilings will have on production — especially of those 200 million chickens Secretary Wickard asked us to raise this fall.

What I'm wondering is whether we have patriotism or patriotism. Are we going to balk at raising those chickens, which will be badly needed, just to show Mr. Henderson we're annoyed? It's true that, as a result of the price ceiling, the market dropped a few cents, and there's not as much profit as there was. But we won't be growing these chickens at a loss. Not by any means. Let's admit that there's still good money in poultry.

If it's the shortage of help rather than the price that is keeping you from starting fall chicks, that's another story. For months representatives of the poultry industry, along with other agricultural leaders, have been trying to get some action on the farm labor problem in time to forestall a food shortage.

When the president, in his talk to the nation last week, acknowledged that food production was low, we knew we had finally put our point across. I think we can expect more consideration than we've been given so far. But we cannot expect to have all the help we think we need and we might as well make up our minds to it.

Somewhat, when we think of the job the boys are doing out in the Solomon Islands and the job our boys in Ireland have ahead of them, I think we'll find a way to get our job done. Compared to what they're doing, asking us to raise a bunch of fall chicks isn't so much . . . is it?

Have you ordered yours yet?

Ogle County Farm Bureau News Notes

The Ogle County Farm Bureau annual business meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 15 according to action taken by the board of directors at their last meeting. Officers for the coming year will be elected and reports of activities for the past year will be given.

The date of the 4-H club achievement day will be Saturday, November 7. At this time members of the agriculture and home economics clubs will join in a program in which awards for completion of projects and special activities will be made and there will be exhibitions of corn, poultry, potatoes, home grounds beautification, garden, forestry and electricity projects.

Some farmers in Ogle county are finding difficulty in marketing their soybeans because of a large percentage of green colored beans which according to market grading regulations cause a discount in price.

At the request of J. C. Hackleman, College of Agriculture, samples of soybeans have been sent from Ogle and a number of other counties to see if some arrangement can be made to correct this difficulty in cases of beans that otherwise grade low in moisture and high in oil and protein.

Farmers are advised to hold back their beans from the market until this problem can be worked out. They are advised that No. 1 and No. 2 beans had best be stored on the farm until beans of lower quality have been disposed of through the limited marketing facilities to avoid their spoiling. Good quality beans in satisfactory storage are eligible for a loan at $1.67 per bushel.

The increased number of hogs on farms and the increase in farmers' interest in protective measures against disease have resulted in a large increase in the amount of serum and virus purchased through Farm Bureaus in Illinois to vaccinate for hog cholera, according to information from the I. A. A. during the year ended October 1. Illinois farmers bought cooperatively 59 million cc of serum and virus as compared with 52 million the previous year and 42 million for a five year average.

Rejection of Roosevelt's Leadership Tragedy

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(AP) — A "tragedy comparable to the loss of a major battle by our armed forces" was how Mayor Edward J. Kelly described a "rejection of the leadership" of President Roosevelt by Illinois voters next Nov. 3.

Speaking to a meeting of the McKeough labor committee yesterday, Kelly said "if President Roosevelt were a Republican and one who stands for all that Roosevelt symbolizes, I would support him wholeheartedly now."

Tire Problem in Farm Trucking Is Seen as Critical

University of Illinois Chief Reports on His Recent Survey

(Telegraph Special Service)

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 20.—Within another two years most of the trucks hauling farm products to market will have disappeared from the roads or else suitable replacements will have to be found for the tires they are now using.

This is revealed in a survey of 1,401 livestock, milk, peach, vegetable, commercial and general farm trucks which has just been completed by the department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. "There is nothing in the findings which contributes to complacency," it was pointed out by L. J. Norton, chief in marketing and in charge of the study.

"The number of truck tires made available through rationing boards is far below the number necessary for replacements during the next 12 months, assuming the same mileage as during the past year, second, while the prospective mileage in farm truck tires is relatively high, many of these tires are old. How well they will stand up under heavy hauling is uncertain."

"Maximum conservation of tires is imperative in the face of evidence such as that obtained in the survey. Tires should not be overloaded, trucks should not move with part loads and no truck should drive an unnecessary mile," it was pointed out.

Operators of 570 livestock trucks estimated that 62 per cent of their 3,898 tires would run less than a year and that 85 per cent of them would go less than two years. They figured 13 1/2 per cent of them from three to six months, 20 per cent from six to 12 months, 12 per cent from 9 to 12 months and only 18 per cent as long as 12 to 18 months.

Some Good Six Months

Of 114 spare tires on these 570 trucks, 54 per cent were expected to last less than six months if put into regular service.

Fifty-one per cent of 1,550 tires on 825 milk trucks hauling to the St. Louis market were expected to last less than a year and 81 per cent of them less than two years. These included both farm and commercial trucks.

In the case of 1,926 tires on 240 trucks hauling peaches, 91 per cent were expected to last less than two years. Twenty-four per cent were expected to last less than three months, 25 per cent from three to six months, 13 per cent from six to nine months and 12 per cent from 9 to 12 months. Thus there was less than a year of expected wear in 74 per cent of these tires.

Of 808 tires on 137 vegetable trucks, primarily farm trucks, hauling into Chicago, 25 per cent were expected to last less than one year and 49 per cent less than two years.

Operators of 81 commercial trucks in Douglas county estimated that 62 per cent of their

Farm WAR NEWS

The Food Outlook for 1943

The American consumer need not be concerned about the ability to obtain all the bread and cereal he can eat for a year or two. Our supply of wheat, rye and corn is very large. We intend to increase the export of cereals to Russia. But Canada has a record supply of wheat which can be drawn upon if necessary. Plenty of potatoes in sight for the winter. Sweet potatoes, too. Meat consumption will be cut to 2 1/2 pounds per capita per week. The greatest reduction will have to come in pork and beef. Lamb and veal supplies may be normal, but not enough to offset the decrease in pork and beef.

Loan rates to farmers will be kept at 85% of parity on corn and wheat to encourage maximum production of meat, dairy and poultry products for war needs. Less cheap meat will be in the markets because of the strong demand for canned meat, bologna and wieners. However these same products are in relatively small demand for lend-lease shipment. The fish catch is down. Consumers in 1943 may get 10 lbs. of all kinds of fish compared to an average consumption of about 30 pounds per person. Sixty percent of salmon pack go for military needs, 20% for consumers and 20% for future needs.

Plenty of cooking fats and oils, including lard is expected. The large crop of soybeans and cotton seed from which lard substitutes are made and the increased production of hogs will offset the imports of edible fats and oils. The outlook is for plenty of evaporated milk but acute shortages in fluid milk already exist in war-bloom areas. The labor shortage has caused an increasing number of dispersion sales of dairy herds. Butter prices have shown strength. Rationing of butter may come soon if supplies continue to decrease and the demand for military needs increases. Consumers may substitute cheese for meat as long as cheese is abundant.

There will be turkeys for most families accustomed to serving them for Thanksgiving but the price will be substantially higher. Poultry production in 1943 may exceed the record output of 1942. Egg production is about 25% higher than a year ago. Apples are plentiful and a large crop of oranges and grapefruit is in sight. However, these products may have to come by rail and prices will be higher. Our fruit and vegetable supplies will be determined by the transportation situation. It has been suggested that melons and head lettuce shipments from California be restricted in favor of other products. Melons may not be shipped across country next year. Normal supplies of dried fruits may not be available because of 528 tires would not serve more than one year and that 82 per cent of them would not run more than two years. On the other hand of 442 tires on 88 Douglas county farm trucks, only 21 per cent were expected to run less than one year and only 47 per cent less than two years.

demand for the armed forces. One-third to one-fourth of our canned fruits and vegetables go for military needs. The War Production Board has imposed controls of distribution by canners of the entire civilian supply of a large number of canned fruits, vegetables and vegetable juices. The order establishes quota periods for canners' deliveries. If the shipping situation becomes more satisfactory we may be able to get plenty of coffee from Central and South America; otherwise coffee will be scarce for the duration along with tea and chocolate.

Just what the food supply situation will be by the spring of 1944 will be food production and distribution can be maintained. Crop failures have been known to follow bumper crop years. Shortages of labor, machinery, transportation facilities, fertilizers and insecticides are a certainty. More and more food stuff will be needed for our army. Rationing, quota periods for food deliveries, and substituting different foods will be more and more common. But the American consumers are awake to all these facts which may affect their future food supply and our farmers are cooperating with the department of agriculture in an effort to carry out a program designed to build up and conserve the nation's soil for the heavy food production which may lie ahead and at the same time build up reserves of basic food supplies.

Cuts in Car Insurance Rates Placed in Effect

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(AP) —Cuts in automobile insurance rates—based on the type of gas rationing cards soon to be issued—have been placed in effect by several insurance companies operating in Illinois.

The reductions, ranging from 10 to 25 per cent, were announced by officials of the state department of insurance yesterday. The reductions apply to public liability and property damage.

Labor Relations Act for Farmers Proposed in Bill

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—

(AP)—An "agricultural labor relations act" is proposed by Senators Robert M. LaFollette (Prog.-W) and Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah) who Monday introduced five bills they said were designed to mobilize farm man power for greater productivity in the war effort.

Proposing to extend the benefits of the national labor relations act to all persons employed in what they termed industrialized agriculture, the senators urged the establishment of a joint congressional committee to investigate the problems of the small family farmer and to recommend remedies.

LaFollette told his colleagues the five measures were the outgrowth of a study of farm labor conditions made by the senate civil liberties committee, of which he is chairman, and Thomas, a member.

LaFollette summarized the five bills as follows:

Bills Summarized
An agricultural employment stabilization bill which would place public employment exchanges for farm labor under the farm power commission and extend social security benefits to farm workers.

An agricultural wage board bill which would determine "fair wages" for employment in "industrialized agriculture" in much the same manner as the war labor board handles wage and other problems for industry.

A measure extending the minimum wage and hour provisions of the fair labor standards act to employees in "industrialized agriculture."

An agricultural labor recruitment measure regulating the operation of private employment agencies, labor contractors, and others in recruiting farm labor.

A Keystone-arch measure extending the benefits of the national labor relations act to include farm laborers in "industrialized agriculture," defined as the employment of more than three farm workers.

Proposal for Free Library

The voters of Walnut township at the election November 3 will have a special ballot to cast in addition to the regular one. They will vote on a proposition to establish a free public library in Walnut. A tax not to exceed one mill will be levied to support the library. There would be a board of six directors to serve without pay.

That there is a need and a desire for a free public library in Walnut is substantiated when it is found that 600 books were borrowed from the temporary library in the month of August alone. This library was begun in 1939 with donations of the room, books and some money. An addition of 600 books was secured from the WPA and the salary of a full time librarian was paid out of WPA funds. The WPA library project was discontinued last summer. Since that time the remnants of the library have been cared for and the public served by ladies who volunteered their services without pay.

It is believed that Walnut township people are library-minded and the proposition will be voted favorably, which will insure the community a modern reading center and library.

With the Injured

Clarence Hasenyager had the misfortune to have an injury at the football game Friday afternoon which resulted in a concussion of the brain. He is in the Princeton hospital but is getting along as well as can be expected. Harry Odell received a broken ankle while playing on the campus Friday afternoon and has it in a cast now. Harry is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Odell, where he makes his home.

Bingo furnished the diversion of the evening and lunch was served by Mrs. Nettie Taylor and Mrs. Matt Epperson.

Life Is Narrow in England, Cousin of Dixon Women Writes

Britons Dread Another Winter's Blackout; Fruit Crop Fine

The following paragraphs are excerpts from a letter received recently by Mrs. Eustace Shaw and her sister, Mrs. H. U. Bardwell, from a cousin in Leeds, England:

"Life is very narrow these war days. Transportation is restricted and inadequate and now that motorists have to swell the already crowded buses, cars, trains, etc., traveling anywhere, whether local or otherwise, is something to be endured, particularly when everyone is laden. Fortunately, I can generally arrange my little jaunts out, outside rush hours."

"We are all dreading another winter's blackout. In fact, I am afraid we are going to have an uncomfortable winter with blackout, plus restriction on fuel. It is to be hoped that the winter will not be as severe, as the last three. The weather has been very poor all the summer, though at present, we are having a spell of lovely September weather, which will enable the farmers to get in our bumper harvest. We have had six consecutive days without rain so far. No wonder the pamphlets issued to the troops stationed here, had a section devoted to the weather conditions. Anyway, we are not short of water; our reservoirs are full and it won't be necessary to ration that commodity."

Tells of Broadcasts

"I am wondering if you get the broadcasts 'Britain to America', broadcast on Fridays at 8 p. m., British time. I always find them most interesting, and feel sure they will do a great amount of good in helping us to understand one another and one another's point of view. We also have another series, 'An American in England', where we heard a good many home truths about ourselves. By the end of the war, I guess we shall be calling petrol, gas, and everything will be going according to skedool! The interchange of thoughts and ideas by means of radio should be a good groundwork for the final settling up of the war, which will be no easy matter."

"By now, we are all reconciled to the austere way of living. The growing pains we suffered at the beginning of the war, when various commodities disappeared, one after the other, have gone, and now we accept shortages with equanimity and 'that's that'. If they reappear, we go into ecstasies."

"Yesterday, for instance, I had a friend for tea, and I made up one of my precious jelly squares (not the last, I am glad to say), into a fruit jelly with grated apple—a very ordinary affair, normally, but my friend was in raptures over it. Moral: You have only to be deprived of eatables for a time, to find most ordinary things very good indeed. We are enjoying at present, the pleasure of buying plums, apples, tomatoes, onions without waiting in a queue for them."

"Fruits Are Excellent
"The fruit crops are excellent this year, and in spite of difficulties in transport, fruits are coming through in good quantities. The west and south of England are the fruit-growing areas. We get every help from the minister of food to enable us to make the most of using vegetables and to the best advantage, though I think you are decidedly ahead of us in dietetic values. We are not worse off, but better in health by eating plainer foods, and less sugars and starches of which we ate too much pre-war."

"About a fortnight ago, night was made hideous with sirens and we had air raids on a small scale.
"You will notice the discrepancy in the dates. This letter was censored and returned to me, as I had said one or two things 'I oughtn't to have said'. I must be more careful in the future. I mentioned one place, because you had been there, and I thought it would interest you."

"I notice from your newspapers that you are kept informed, and correctly, too, of life and present day routine in our food and habits. Your newspapers are handed round for perusal to different friends, and one item that they never miss is the recipes. At any rate, if the luscious ingredients obtainable in your part of the world are taboo here, we get a kick out of imagining what the result must be. When I read of one-half cups of orange and lemon juice and other fruits—well, you have to be without lemons, currants and raisins to realize how well off you were when they were obtainable. Lord Woolton has warned us more shipping space is needed for war purposes, therefore, we'll all have to pull our belts in, but you will have heard all about this before this letter reaches you."

"Newspapers are taking longer to come again, sometimes two weeks, and I expect it will take letters about the same time, so I am quite expecting this letter will arrive just before Christmas."

Dixon Horsemen Attend Ride of Morrison Club

Ten riders from Dixon were among 188 sportsmen and women attending Sunday's trail jaunt sponsored by the Morrison Equestrian club of Morrison, Ill. The equestrians assembled at the Whiteside county fair grounds and rode northward through miles of timber, enveloped in the glorious pageantry of autumn.

At noon, the riders returned to the fair grounds for a fried chicken dinner. A chuck wagon supplied the party with apples and other refreshments at three points on the morning itinerary and also met the riders twice during the afternoon, when the trail led southwest of Morrison. Posing for a staff photographer from the Chicago Daily News was also part of the afternoon program.

Members of the Rock River Trail and Horsemen's association attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Oakford, Miss Ruth Foster, Clarence Myers, Arthur Keithahn, John Roe, Sr., Charles Otto and Tommy Love. Mrs. Oakford exchanged her bay mount, "Lady Jane," for a brown mule for part of the ride.

Announcement was made of a trail ride to be held at Rock Island on Sunday, and at Elizabeth, Ill., northwest of Stockton, Sunday, Nov. 1.

First Graders at South Central Salvage Scrap, 100 Per Cent

From high school seniors to toddlers, everybody's in The Telegraph-sponsored salvage campaign for Lee county schools, and no age group more actively so than the youngsters. Their individual contributions may not be so large, but in the aggregate, they're adding a mighty lot of scrap to the nation's pile to keep the steel mills going.

At South Central school, 20 first graders can boast the coveted 100 per cent record for their room, the last Certificate of Patriotism having been turned in to the teacher, Miss Caroline Slothower at noon yesterday. A total of 3,240 pounds (an average of 162 pounds each) were salvaged by these six-year-olds, who are anxious to do their share in their country's war effort. Tea kettles, springs, auto parts, keys, nails, and many other articles were included in their donations.

In the above picture, the students are posing for a Telegraph photographer at the Fifth street entrance of their school. Front row, left to right: Richard Ashford, Wayne Klecker, Pat Gaganidze, J. L. Shaver, Bobby Utz, Douglas Gracey and Melvin McConell. Second row, left to right: Delores Newman, Joyce Fulton, Nancy Jo Countryman, Beverly Sword, Shirley Tucker, Carol Boyce, and Lois Marinario. Back row: Janet Sleasman, Julia Horton, Anita Aughenbaugh, Joyce Stanley, Carol Johnson, and Janice Seiler.

The grade students of the Lee Center school were the first to report a 100 percent record. Eighth graders of the South Central school of Dixon were second. Next?

Coolidge's Letters to Library of Congress

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Charles Kohlen said today he had decided to give 9,000 pieces of President Coolidge's correspondence to the Library of Congress, where it must be kept under seal for 20 years, instead of selling it at auction in New York.

Kohlen, owner of the hobby shop here, said he acted as he did because a number of the letters possibly could adversely affect officials high in the Roosevelt administration, because others were "sensational," and that making public some "might hurt the national war effort."

Salting Garden Vegetables Aids in Meal Planning

Salting as a method of preserving late garden vegetables such as rutabagas, turnips, green tomatoes, cabbage and cauliflower is a last resort to add food variety to winter menus.
Most popular of salted foods is sauerkraut with its piquant flavor which contrasts with inexpensive meat dishes. However, some new foods which homemakers may wish to try are sauer ruben made with turnips or sour rutabaga, which is another vegetable specialty.

Complete directions for salting these foods and storing them in stone jars or crocks rather than glass jars are given in circular 538, "Preserving Vegetables by Salting," prepared by home economics food and nutrition authorities, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Variety is going to be one food problem to test the ingenuity of the meal planner, food authorities point out. Many new ideas are being accepted these days and many new foods will become familiar at the dining room table. In a country where food is plentiful in quantity although not as varied as it has been, there is much to be said for the resourcefulness of the homemaker who can draw upon a cellar full of home preserved foods.

belief there were "several matters" in the bill which should be changed.
While the treasury's experts have estimated the wartime revenue measure would bring in $6,881,830,000 in new funds, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the ways and means committee reported to the house that it would yield a gross of ten billions and a net of eight billion dollars.
A ten-billion increase would make the total to be collected in federal taxes in 1943 roughly $27,000,000,000.
Before the house stamped on its approval, Doughton described the bill as "the best that can be done under the very difficult circumstances under which the committee has labored in its preparation."
"This, together with other taxes on the books, represents about 25 cents on every dollar of national income," Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) told the house.
Quick senate action sent the bill to Roosevelt for his signature in plenty of time for the excise taxes to become applicable on Nov. 1. This would put $50,000,000 in the treasury next month over and above the excise taxes no win force.
Even while congress was disposing of the record-breaking, 601-page revenue bill, treasury officials were saying ways must be found immediately to produce an additional $6,000,000,000, and Capitol Hill tax experts commented that to do this would mean a federal retail sales tax.

American Warships

the battle of the Solomons. "It is still a good stiff, hard fight," he told a press conference when asked about the Solomons campaign.

"In my judgment," he said, "the Japanese have by no means as yet exercised their maximum force."

He had no information to add to the most recent Navy communiqué which told last night of American warships suddenly reappearing in the Solomons.

An indication that land-based airplanes may begin to play a much greater part in naval activity was given by the secretary.

Asked if he would comment upon the number of such planes, he said that information could not be disclosed but "the number of land based planes of the Navy is steadily increasing."

First evidence that the United States soldiers, sailors and Marines awaiting a full scale assault on their embattled island airbase were supported by heavy naval units came last night in a Navy announcement of an effective sea bombardment of enemy positions and ammunition dumps on northwestern Guadalcanal.

Throughout the same day, Oct. 17, American planes blasted at the enemy's island foothold and for three days, beginning Oct. 16, allied bombers under Gen. Arthur's Australian command repeatedly pounded the strong Japanese force of warships, transports and cargo vessels in the Shortland island area.

In two days of aerial combat, Japanese losses in the Solomons were raised to 340 destroyed planes. Eight enemy bombers and 11 Zero fighters of a 40-plane force were shot down in an attempt to destroy the American-held airfield on Guadalcanal.

In a raid on the enemy base at Rekata bay on Santa Isabel island, 115 miles north of Guadalcanal, the Flying Fortress Bombers and Army-Marine Grumman Wildcat fighters strafed and burned 12 Japanese seaplanes caught on the water and shot down a large Japanese flying boat and a twin-engine enemy bomber.

Retaliating for the American warship bombardment which started fires on the enemy's Guadalcanal positions and set off ammunition stores, the Japanese shelled U. S. installations on the northern coast of the island.

Meanwhile, the navy added, no recent Japanese attempt to reinforce their troops has been observed.

The allied aerial offensive from the Australian base experienced a comparative lull yesterday afternoon, but a number of other vessels were believed hit in a Sunday night attack on the Japanese naval formation at Buin on Bougainville island in the northern Solomons.

ON AFRICAN FRONT

Cairo, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Heavy and medium United States bombers and RAF planes of every combat type combine yesterday on widespread missions over the Mediterranean and North Africa which cost the axis at least four ships and heavy damage to planes, camps and transport facilities ashore.

Communicated from their respective headquarters enumerated these achievements:
At least two large merchant vessels hit by American heavy bombers at Tripoli and a number of American medium bombers among grounded enemy planes at an undisclosed enemy landing ground.

Long-range British fighters were credited with setting a two-masted schooner ablaze and leaving it sinking southwest of Crete and shooting down a Nazi JU-52 troop transport out of "large escorted formations."

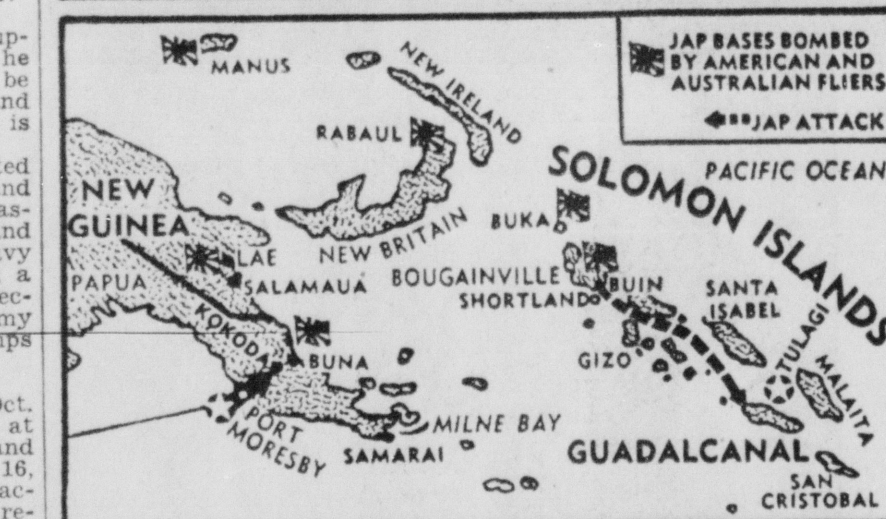

All allied air operations, including another day of the defense of Malta, cost the RAF two planes and a number of men, the communiqué said. The land situation remained dormant.

Collection of Cans on Must Basis in 400 Cities

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Collection of tin cans went from a voluntary to a must basis today in more than 400 municipalities.

Hoping to obtain 10,000 tons of the metal from old cans, the War Production Board last night directed trash collection agencies in localities of more than 25,000 population in 15 states to collect and segregate the cans prepared by housekeepers.

Mending Linoleum Is Wartime Task for Home Owners

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 20.—Patching the kitchen linoleum, mending a worn spot in the rug or repainting walls are some of the household tasks which a homemaker and her family should learn to do in face of the war situation, it is suggested by Miss Dorothy Iwig, extension specialist in home furnishings, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Skilled workmen for such jobs are going to become increasingly rare as these people are called into the armed service. Furthermore many household materials are being curtailed to a point where the home owner will not have the choice as to color and design for a new rug or a new linoleum as quickly as she has had in the past.

Another reason for knowing how to reupholster or mend a chair is that it will save transportation.

"We're having some restrictions on furniture and many other house furnishing items now, but more is to be expected," Miss Iwig predicted.

Among materials used in the manufacture of furniture now on the restricted or frozen list are first-cut cotton felt, feathers and down measuring less than four inches in length, kapok, animal hair, moss, turlap, jute webbing, sisal, jute upholstery twine, decorative hardware of a metal nature, an almost fabrics except cottons and rayons.

Furniture care should include knowledge on how to clean wood and upholstery, using soap jelly or other cleaner, how to wax furniture, how to take care of surface scratches, retie springs, refill cushions with new stuffing and make new coverings.

Floor coverings given proper attention, including stain removal, repairing of worn edges, mending of seams and frequent sizing, will last throughout the war period. Linoleum and other smooth surface floor coverings may be repainted or may be patched if a hole has appeared. Weekly washing with lukewarm water and periodic waxing will keep the floor covering in condition.

Mrs. Roosevelt Is Expected in England

London, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth, recovered from a bronchitis attack, left Balmoral Castle, Scotland, last night with King George VI and their two daughters for southern England, where, newspapers reported, they will make preparations to welcome Mrs. Roosevelt.

While there was no official announcement on the reported forthcoming visit of the president's wife some days ago, but the trip was postponed when the queen suffered an attack of bronchitis.

The king and queen extended an invitation to President and Mrs. Roosevelt to visit England during the royal visit in the United States in 1939, the Daily Mail reported, adding that "plans had been made to receive the president's wife some days ago, but the trip was postponed when the queen suffered an attack of bronchitis."

Ambassador to Moscow to Report to President

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, United States ambassador to Moscow, has arrived to report to President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull on the diplomatic and military phases of the Russian situation.

It was not immediately disclosed when he would confer with the president and the secretary. He reached Washington last night.

Rescued

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Firemen had to chop through the living room wall to rescue 19-month-old John Rogers Ball from an "exploding trip."

John lifted the cold air register from the floor of his playroom on the second floor at his home, looked down the opening and then fell 10 feet down the narrow shaft. Muffled wails brought his mother, who called firemen to cut into the shaft.

The War Today

to adhere strictly to their policy of concentrating power against Hitler. A great number of bombers, which under normal circumstances would have been available here to strengthen the American and British forces, has had to be sent to other places.

As a result, allied bomber commands in Britain have not obtained the increase in strength which they would normally expect or which they need now to smother the Nazi air highest. The necessity of diverting this air strength must provide, it seems to me, one of the reasons why the Anglo American allies have not felt able to open a second land front in western Europe thus far.

The Russians are calling for quick help. The sooner we get busy plowing up the fuhrer's front yard and sowing our dragon's teeth there the sooner will our armed warriors spring from the soil to attack him and so relieve pressure on the allies on the eastern front.

Thus we are up against the cold fact that the only way we can get at Hitler from the west at the moment is by air.

Our need therefore is to bomb hell out of his military defenses, industries and communications throughout western Europe and the Reich.

In that way and that way only can he be reduced to a point where we can fling the Army against him successfully. And don't forget this—when we challenge Hitler's army we are going after his strongest weapon, a weapon he wants to use against us, a weapon which comprises the most perfect land fighting machine ever constructed.

So why give him odds in the battle? The process of weakening him by air need not take long. As many military experts here figure it, the job can be done in a comparatively short time—if we can bring strongly reinforced air power against him in the immediate future.

The position is this: The Nazi chief has taken a terrible beating this summer at the hands of the unconquerable Red armies despite his gains of territory. Not only has he failed to break through to badly needed fresh resources and to new strategic bases in the Middle East, but his losses in manpower and equipment have been colossal.

In short, as winter approaches, we see the harried fuhrer at by far the lowest mark he has touched since he set out to master the world. If he can be caught now by strengthened allied air forces he can be whittled down rapidly.

On the other hand, if he is allowed the winter months in which to rest and repair the damage he will be strong again in the spring. Then we shall have missed the bus and it may take a long time to smash him. It certainly will delay the second front. Now is the time to hit Hitler from the air with everything we have.

ington... Despite numerous realignments, ten months after Pearl Harbor, business-as-usual considerations still permeate the Washington wartime agencies."

The proposed new agency, which the committee said should be created by legislative action, would be headed by a chairman and primarily would be a policy-determining group.

Under it would be an office of war supply, exercising functions now vested in WPB and the procurement divisions of the Army, the Navy and the Maritime Commission; an office of war manpower, taking over most of the duties of the existing war manpower commission; and an office of economic stabilization, an operating agency in which the present OPA would be the chief branch.

The divisions and agencies involved would be transferred, the committee noted, without "immediate changes in personnel."

Other comments: The committee said it believed the public was prepared to follow "clear and simple" directions but was confused because of "conflicting orders and demands emanating from Washington agencies."

Other comments included: Production has proceeded "from one crisis to another," with the major problem being "the absence of a national production problem."

"There is not today available within the federal government any single agency which knows whether 'conversion' from peacetime to wartime industry 'has taken place at 30 per cent or at 50 per cent efficiency.'"

"The most serious single mistake of the War Production Board has been the devolution of its responsibilities to the military agencies who have been incapable of carrying out these responsibilities."

Committee members besides Tolson included Representative Arnold of Illinois.

For "High Command" Meaningful sentiment for a "congressional high command" to coordinate war legislation gained impetus today behind a resolution to formalize such an organization.

The proposal was offered by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) yesterday at the suggestion, he said, of numerous associates who felt the present duplication of effort in many cases and the repeated calling of high government officials before congressional committees should be curtailed.

It would create a special committee of 21 senators and 21 representatives chosen from the military and naval affairs and the appropriations committees of the two branches.

To this committee would be sent all legislation dealing with the war, and its reports would be made to both houses.

This procedure, Dirksen said, would prevent such a condition as existed last week when the military committees of both chambers held separate hearings on virtually identical bills to lower the draft age.

Maritime Commission Head Talks to Bankers

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the U. S. maritime commission, says his "pet hates for the duration" are "union organizers, profiteers, typewriter strategists and needle boys."

"As far as the organizers are concerned, for the duration, in my opinion, they ought to be shot at sunrise," he said in addressing the annual meeting of the Investment Bankers Association of America yesterday.

Land advised "typewriter strategists" to let the president and the military experts handle the war, and said of the profiteers "we will get them if they don't get themselves." He did not define "needle boys."

GEORGIA REMAINS CLOSE 2nd; IRISH INTO EIGHTH SPOT

Alabama Replaces Michigan in Third; Illini Still Fourth

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Ohio State, with a record of four straight victories this season, remains the choice of the football experts as the country's No. 1 team in the second of the Associated Press weekly polls.

Fifty-eight of the 119 sports writers gave the Buckeyes, who blanked Purdue while getting 26 points for themselves in their latest outing, first place on their ballots but 38 others decided the honor belonged to Georgia, a 40 to 0 winner over Tulane last Saturday.

The Dixie Bulldogs, second a week ago, held onto the runner-up position, 1,030 votes to 973, but Alabama, which stopped Tennessee, 8 to 0, exchanged places with Michigan and occupied third place while the Wolverines skidded to fourth despite their 34 to 16 win over Northwestern.

That was the only change among the first seven of a week ago with Illinois, Georgia Tech and Wisconsin keeping the fifth, sixth and seventh rungs.

Three Newcomers
The remaining three places in the top 10, however, went to newcomers with Notre Dame climbing from twenty-second to eighth on the strength of the 28 to 0 shellacking administered the Iowa pre-flight cadets; Santa Clara moving up from a tie for fifteenth to ninth by beating California, and Boston College nudging up from eleventh to tenth following the Eagles' 7 to 6 win over the North Carolina pre-flights.

Pennsylvania, tied by Princeton, Colgate, drubbed by Duke; and Washington State, loser to Southern California, were eighth, ninth and tenth a week ago.

Army and Texas Christian, neither defeated this season, failed to make the first 10 by 21 and 23 votes, respectively. They are in the second group along with Minnesota, UCLA, Texas, Mississippi State, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, North Carolina and Syracuse.

The service teams, which have been outstandingly successful against college elevens, are not eligible for consideration in the poll.

The standings of the teams (first place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc., basis):

First Ten
Ohio State (58)	1,030
Georgia (38)	973
Alabama (8)	822
Michigan (2)	606
Illinois (1)	516
Georgia Tech (1)	487
Wisconsin (2)	430
Notre Dame (3)	387
Santa Clara (2)	282
Boston College (4)	248

Second Ten
11—Army 227; 12—Texas Christian 225; 13—Minnesota 55; 14—University of California at Los Angeles 50; 15—Texas 45; 16—Mississippi State 31; tie for 17 and 18—Pennsylvania and Tennessee 26 each; 19—North Carolina 13; 20—Syracuse 12.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)
Philadelphia — Ray Robinson, 143½, New York, outpointed Izzy Jannazzo, 147, New York, (10).
New York — Tippy Larkin, 138½, Garfield, N. J., stopped Charley Davis, 132, New York, (7).

Baltimore — Lou Brooks, 181, Wilmington, Del., outpointed Tony Musto, 185½, Chicago, (10).
Columbus, O.—Buddy Walker, 192, Columbus, outpointed Johnny Flynn, 195, New York, (10).

U. Arkansas and Tulane, respectively, I had to get those out fast before I changed my mind.

Those poor Texas Aggies. It doesn't hardly seem right that they should lose so many ball games but such is life. Baylor to take it this time.

Texas is my choice over Rice; Corpus Christi Navy to paste S. M. U.; T. C. U. in a breeze over Pensacola Navy and ditto for Texas Tech over New Mexico.

Out on the west coast you never know what is going to happen. A team that's tops one week is a bum the next—check the files of the California Bears. But a team that got the pre-season buildup the Bears received can't always lose. Hence I'm picking Washington as their victim come Saturday.

Oregon has got easy pickin's in its Idaho engagement. St. Mary's looks like a winner over Loyola. Oregon State-Washington State—who knows? I'll take a guess on Oregon State.

I use the same deductions in selecting Southern Cal over Stanford. UCLA has been causing a lot of trouble in the Pacific Coast Conference, but Santa Clara is not a conference member and looks like the cream of the crop from here.

Line fors at the right for all rebates.

Everything Okeh at Notre Dame; Leahy Would Be Nuts to Get Well

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

Notre Dame, Oct. 20.—As the South Bend spokesman says, Accurate Angelo Bertelli is back in the groove, the sun is shining on the Golden Dome, and all is right with the Notre Dame world.

In fact things are so bright that Frank Leahy would be crazy to get well. After being tied by Wisconsin and being beaten by Georgia Tech and putting Coach Leahy in the clinic, the Irish bounced back to smack Stanford, 27-0, and to smear the Iowa Pre-Flight Cadets, 28-0.

Because they repelled Northwestern, Michigan and Minnesota, many suspected the latter aggregation, coached by Lieut.-Col. Bernie Bierman, was the best non-professional outfit in the land.

What brought about this sudden reversal of form? Dippy Evans, a vicious back, was out of the Wisconsin and Georgia Tech engagements, but neither did he appear against Stanford and the Seahawks. So how come?

Well, for one thing it took Bertelli and the boys sometime to become adjusted to the switch to the modern T.

Under the old alignment, Bertelli merely faded back from the deep tailback position and chucked the leather.

Passing in college while working behind the center in the T is something else again.

In the professional game all Sid Luckman of the Bears has to do is to take the ball from center and toss it from where he stands if he so chooses.

But in college ball the passer must be five yards in back of the line of scrimmage.

The passer steps forward while throwing, which means that Bertelli has to fade back at least seven yards before looking around to spot a receiver.

Back in '41 Form
Signal-calling in the first two games apparently weighed too heavily on Bertelli, too, points out the South Bend spokesman.

Relieved of this responsibility, the Springfield Slingshot fired the ball with his 1941 abandon.

Harry Wright, who quarterbacked the '41 varsity through its undefeated campaign as the blocking back, called plays from right guard.

Relieving Harry the Horse from that duty obviously was a mistake. Asked why he had Bertelli play 55 of the 60 minutes in the lopsided victory Stanford, Ed McKeever, the backfield coach filling in for Leahy, tells you the story of the Italian in a jiffy.

"Bert was losing his confidence," explains McKeever. "I wanted him to rebuild it by completing just as many passes as he could."

Bertelli got back on the beam, all right. Against Stanford, he completed 14 of 20 for 233 yards and all four touchdowns. In the first half against the Iowa Cadets, when the Micks were passing instead of running, he completed five out of nine for 137 yards.

While they did not do it against the Seahawks, on two of the four touchdown passes against Stanford, and on numerous occasions both last fall and this, Notre Dame has forsaken its regular formation to go into a double wingback spread, with Bertelli back. The ends and halfbacks play wide.

There is no kidding about this. Bertelli is back there to pass. Everybody knows it.

Leahy figures the formation is best for getting four receivers into the secondary swiftly.

There has not yet been an interception from this alignment, despite the advance warning that Angelo Bertelli will throw.

Such is the passer who this autumn again makes the Notre Dame team the fashion show of college football.

Notre Dame has crossed the T—has the new-fangled edition of it down letter perfect.

The Budweiser Gardens girls salvaged one victory from their three game series with Peter Pipers last night at the Dixon Recreation, thereby retaining a 50 per cent share in first place of the Ladies' league standing.

At the same time Piper was rising up to tie for the lead with Budweiser Gardens, the Manhattan Cafe outfit swept its series from Freeman Shoes No. 2 to gain a knot for third with the Treins Jewelry team which could take only two out of three in its match with Tony's.

These were the only major disturbances in the loop results as all the other leaders maintained their holds on their respective positions.

Lincoln Lanes
Record-breaking was the order of the day in the Green River Ordinance plant Ladies' league play at the Lincoln Lanes yesterday with all the former marks going by the wayside.

The Ordnance Dept. team, while winning three in a row from the Cafeteria, set new team game and series highs of 785 and 2234.

M. Nagle of the A. E. M. Dept. keglers established a new individual game mark, 165, and V. Polari (Operations No. 2) and M. Beck (Ordnance) both had series scores of 505 for a new top in this department.

Central Calculating still boasts an unbeaten record, Production Department being the latest victim.

American Pilots Describe Biggest Raid on Buin Japs

Aimed at Easing Foe's Pressure on Yankees on Guadalcanal

Somewhere in New Guinea, Oct. 18 (Delayed)—(AP)—Allied airmen hurled their biggest assault against Japanese bases in the Solomons before dawn today in an offensive aimed at easing enemy pressure on American forces fighting on Guadalcanal.

Flying Fortresses manned by Americans struck heavily at a big concentration of Japanese ships at Buin and probable hits were reported on three Japanese cruisers and a number of other vessels. Seven flying boats were destroyed. The raiders lost 22 tons of bombs, including many 1,000 pounders, despite unfavorable weather and one of the strongest concentrations of anti-aircraft fire ever tossed up by the enemy.

Pilots reported a large explosion shattered one of the ships which sustained a direct hit at Buin.

Chicagoan in Action

These raids followed closely on smashing blows Saturday at Rabaul, New Britain, Buin and Buka in the Solomons, and Salamaua, New Guinea—all important sources of air support, reinforcements, and supplies for Japanese forces at Guadalcanal.

Capt. Paul Cool of Pontiac, Mich., led one flight against Rabaul. His flight included Lieut. Al Progar of Springfield, Pa., Capt. Boris Zubko of Kearney, N. J., Lieut. Paul Williams of Norman, Okla., Capt. Jack Thompson of Etlinger, Okla., Lieut. John Lewis of Baltimore, and Lieut. Richard Herland, Chicago.

For nearly an hour and a half Maj. Felix Harrison of Springfield, Mo., hovered over Buin during the fiery attack there. "Bomb runs were made difficult by the wind and weather, which thickened gradually until at the last part of the mission thunderheads rolled over the target," he said. "Visibility became so poor we dropped low once but got back and had to climb back. When leaving we saw one ship smoking badly."

Believe Cruiser Hit
Capt. David Hasmer of St. Louis, Mo., made two passes at a ship and believed his bombs scored near misses.

"It seemed that every ship in the harbor was moving fast," said Lieut. William Smith of Honolulu. "It was so dark we couldn't make sure where we hit, but we think near a light cruiser."

"We had a couple of bombs left so we took a low run over Buin, where we saw that the only ground fire was from a single machine gun shooting in every direction."

Capt. Maurice Barr of San Antonio, Tex., made more than his share of anti-aircraft fire.

"Ships in Buin harbor really opened up. They filled the air with tracers, and one shell bounced but didn't hit us. We made good runs but couldn't observe the results."

Bombs Hit Near Ship
Capt. Kenneth McCullar of Batesville, Miss., who has been dropping plenty of bombs on the Japanese in recent raids stuck around until near dawn and dropped two big bombs alongside a seaplane tender.

"My bombardier, Lieut. Robert Butler of St. Paul, N. C., yelled that tracers were coming right into his bombsight, so I pulled up sharply," Capt. McCullar recounted. "Our bombs hit within 50 to 75 feet of a ship, spraying it with bomb fragments."

Starting for home at dawn, McCullar's plane saw three Japanese Zeros take off from Buin and they followed along for 25 miles but only one of them attempted to press home an attack.

The attacking Zero, Capt. McCullar said, would race ahead and then come in heaving, pulling off sharply to avoid turret fire. With each run the American plane crew was pouring four hundred rounds at the enemy craft.

Shakes Off a Zero
"I put our plane right above the water," the captain said. "He didn't want to come down that low, so he peeled off and left us alone."

Capt. C. A. Hustad of Minneapolis landed his bombs near a medium sized transport probably with heavy damage to the enemy vessel.

Lieut. Ed Scott of Hollandale, Miss., was returning home when he saw some seaplanes along the shore at Faisla.

"I could see that some of them were four motored planes, so I unloaded a string of bombs down the middle," he said. "Although they didn't burn, there certainly were enough holes so that they won't fly without some patching."

Other pilots participating in the night raid were Maj. William Bent Washington, Pa.; Lieut. William Thompson, Canton, O.; Capt. Robert Hughes, Rochester, N. Y.; Lieut. Frederick Wesche, Roselle, N. J.; Lieut. John Hancock, Hallville, Okla.; Capt. Melvin McKenzie, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; and Lieut. Jack Frost, San Antonio, Tex.

Combat Flying of U. S. Aircraft Good; Improving

Washington, Oct. 20—(AP)—Coupling unvarnished criticism of American fighter planes with an overall analysis of all Army and Navy air types, the Office of War Information has concluded that "on average the combat performance of United States aircraft was good" and improving.

In a 10,000 word report to the public designed to dispel the fog of confusion concerning American planes, OWI said "the truth lies between the two extremes" of adverse and favorable criticisms.

Specifically, the document said: 1. The Curtiss P-40, Bell P-39 (Aircobra), and North American P-51 (Mustang), standard Army fighters already in action, have many good points but are definitely inferior to foreign types in high-altitude combat.

2. Chief fault of our fighters is the tardy and incomplete development of the Allison liquid-cooled motor.

Fortresses Unsurpassed
3. For daylight precision bombing our Flying Fortresses B-17S and Liberator B-24S are unsurpassed.

4. Our medium bombers, Mitchell B-25S and Martin B-26S have no competitors.

5. Latest Navy fighter, dive bomber and torpedo types already in action are the best carrier planes in the world.

6. Other types—patrol, reconnaissance, cargo and transport, artillery fire-spotters, etc.—are "satisfactory in quality" within their own fields.

It told how alternate superiority of the United States and Great Britain in various types gave the United Nations, as a team, a better choice of weapons than the enemy.

It declared of the future that "the United States aircraft industry and services are in an orderly ferment of developing specialized aircraft of high, and in some cases sensational, promise of battle performance."

Soybean Storage May Be Problem in Parts of State

Unless growers make arrangements in advance, a lack of storage in some areas may hamper harvest of Illinois' record wartime crop of 75,000,000 bushels of soybeans. This is indicated in the results of a survey made in Champaign, Knox, Logan, Hancock and McDonough counties by L. J. Norton, chief in agricultural marketing, and his associate, L. F. Stice, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Some communities, fortunately, will have no storage problem. However, it was recommended that every soybean grower should check on his local situation and make arrangements so that when the combines are in his field, there will be a place to store his crop.

A substantial part of the crop can be shipped during harvest and milled or stored in mill, terminal or sub-terminal elevators. Part or all of their crop has always been stored on the farm by some farmers, while others have provided additional storage space this year. More than the usual quantity of beans will be stored by country elevators this year. At many stations CCC steel bins are available.

"All things considered, the survey indicates that in the market area of some elevators, difficulties will develop. Either such elevators must be permitted to ship more soybeans or their farmer customers must provide more storage space."

"Soybeans in satisfactory storage are eligible for a CCC loan of $1.67 a bushel. The loan runs to June 30, 1943, but the farmer must agree to hold the soybeans until September 1, 1943, unless they are going out of condition. Also the cash minimum price of $1.60 a bushel will be increased by one cent a bushel a month after January 1 until June 30. However, the real incentive to provide additional storage is not the higher price on the storage allowance but to insure that there will be a place to store the crop when the combines are in operation."

Colder Houses Give Cause for Warmer Clothes

Here Are Suggestions Concerning Care of Woolen Garments

Better care of woolen garments will keep them in shape for extra warmth when and if housing temperatures are lowered in order to save fuel.

Woolens have unusual warmth giving powers, but that does not mean that they can withstand extreme temperatures or accumulations of soil and dirt and still give good service, it is pointed out by Miss Helen Zwolanek, instructor in home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Men who wear their woolen sweaters or jackets from one end of the year to the other may discover too late that the soil which has sifted into the fabric is doing some subtle sabotage on the fibers. Equally disastrous are hazardous washing methods which result in misshapen and shrunken sweaters, skirts and knit dresses.

Home Cleaning
Sweaters and knit dresses may be cleaned successfully at home. Success depends upon using a constant lukewarm temperature throughout the washing, rinsing and drying procedure. Hot water is harmful for two reasons. Wool fibers have long prongs on them. Extremely hot water or very cold water will cause these prongs to inter-lock causing felting. In addition wool fibers are protein and harden the same way an egg does when subjected to hot temperatures.

A heavy cardboard cut to the size and shape of the original garment with detachable cardboard sleeves facilitates quick shaping and drying of the garment.

It is not too easy nor desirable to try to wash skirts and wool dresses at home, but if dry cleaning is out of the question, home washing of these everyday woolens is to be preferred to letting them wear out from excess soil.

The same rules for washing, rinsing and drying apply for these garments, the main difficulty lying in the fact that it is difficult to obtain a good press on a home laundered skirt. However, if the garment is turned inside out and pressed carefully with a damp cloth and warm iron, it will come out all right.

Old, discarded woolen garments should be mended or blocked to everyday household use. Miss Zwolanek suggested. Quilted jackets and vests may be just the thing to wear over a cotton house dress during the day.

Two Joliet Men Are Killed in Accident

Chicago, Oct. 20—(AP)—Pvt. Harry C. Olivo, 27, and Paul Cervelli, 20, both of Joliet, Ill., were killed in an automobile accident on Lemont road one mile east of Lemont early today. Three of their companions were injured.

Pvt. Olivo (of 430 Meeker avenue) a soldier on furlough according to Willow Springs county highway police, was killed instantly. Cervelli of 423 Meeker avenue died later in the Little Company of Mary hospital from skull injuries.

Those injured were Steve Vargo, 17, (of 600 Meeker avenue), Joliet, Ill., bruised; William Desarro, 21, (of 420 Case avenue), Joliet, Ill., taken to the Beryvon hospital suffering from internal injuries, and Dominick Affrunti, 19, (of 519 Meeker avenue) Joliet, Ill., taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital.

Police Sgt. Edgar Ward said Vargo stated he had tried to negotiate a curve and pass a truck at the same time—a moment before the car careened off the road, through a wooden guardrail, and over a 15 foot embankment.

Police detained Vargo for questioning.

Ziller Trial in Piatt County Says Attorney

Bloomington, Oct. 20—(AP)—The trial of George W. Ziller, granted a change of venue on charges growing out of the alleged sale of ordnance plant construction jobs, will be held at Monticello, Piatt county, his attorney Joseph Londrigan, said yesterday.

The final decision on the place, however, Circuit Judge William C. Radloff said, was still to be made. Peoria, Pekin, Eureka, Paxton, Champaign, and Decatur were under consideration.

Londrigan gave no indication when Ziller might go on trial on charges of conspiracy and confidence game, and said his next move would be a motion to quash.

Ziller and two others were granted the change of venue from McLean county.

Sullivan to Urge Higher Pay for Prison Guards

Chicago, Oct. 20—(AP)—Increased pay was recommended yesterday by Acting Warden T. P. Sullivan, as a means of keeping high caliber guards in Illinois state penitentiaries at Joliet.

Sullivan, state director of public safety, said he would make a recommendation to that effect to the state legislature in January.

Warden Edward M. Stubbfield, who resigned Sunday after Gov. Green instructed Sullivan to take over following the Roger Touhy jail break, said 120 guards had left since August to take higher pay war jobs.

The governor and Sullivan are investigating to see whether inexperience of guards was a contributing factor to the Touhy break Oct. 9. Touhy, former head of Chicago's "Terrible Touhy Gang" and six convict buddies, are still at large.

Mickey and Ava to Start Life Anew

Hollywood, Oct. 20—(AP)—Mickey Rooney, 21, and his wife, Ava Gardner, 19, are going to start life all over again.

That's what Miss Gardner said last night in announcing that what at first inspection seemed a major domestic tragedy was in reality nothing but a family spat, and that she and her film star husband will take up where they left off last month, when she slapped a divorce suit on him.

"I'm dropping the suit," said Miss Gardner, "we're going to start all over again."

Miss Gardner, when she sued Rooney Sept. 15, charged cruelty.

"It was just a family argument—I realize that now," she said last night. "And I still love him. Yes, Mickey can be the boss when he comes back if he wants to be."

Mickey, who was one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors when he married Ava last Jan. 10, wasn't available for comment.

Suit Against A. P. Strangest Paradox in Arnold's Career

Thurman Arnold's monopoly suit against Associated Press appears to be the strangest paradox of his speckled career as a trust buster, observes Nation's Business, official publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in its current issue. Under the caption "The Penalty of Merit" it says:

In substance the Assistant Attorney General alleges that A. P. has done such a good job in "stands in the forefront in the public estimation and esteem."

Therefore, its service is necessary to the survival of any newspaper. Hence it is unfair discrimination in violation of the Sherman Act when that service is not obtainable by a particular paper.

If these contentions were true, and if A. P. service were made available to every newspaper, as the government demands, then A. P. would indeed become a monopoly.

But let's give Mr. Arnold credit at least for consistency. His position in this case is basically the same as his stand of a few years ago on advertising. At that time he said that a firm which makes a good product and earns a lot of money from it can then advertise in a big way to other potential consumers of the product, and in doing so would take unfair advantage of its smaller competitors.

Consistent in fallacy, yes. But he was wrong then and he's wrong now.

This item might be headed "Build a Better Mouse Trap and Mr. Arnold Will Beat a Path to Your Door."

Another possible title comes to mind, "Maybe it's Only Wyoming Loco Weed."
